DEDICATION

Truman C. Buss, Jr.

Mere words cannot express the sincere feeling and the high esteem we hold for one who has shown such a spirit of vitality and support towards the encouragement of our social activities. His efforts have earned the respect, gratitude, and affection of every member of the class.

In appreciation, we, the class of 1942, dedicate this annual to our faculty adviser, Mr. Truman Clifford Buss, Jr.

FOREWORD

May this publication of the twenty-fourth edition of the Annual be an enduring source of enjoyment and pleasure as you recall your life as a student and reflect upon your social activities and athletic attainments at school.

We sincerely hope that this record of events will produce memories to cherish in the years to come.

In Memoriam

Alexander Ritter, head of the mathematics department at Pullman Tech. for the last twenty-five years, died September 4, 1941. He was not only a great mathematician and expert instructor, but he took the greatest interest in teaching all his students valuable lessons of life and character.

We who knew Mr. Ritter at school, and former students with whom he came in personal contact, will always remember him affectionately.

Reflection

Spirit of the Student . . .

During a student's stay at school, his advancement towards the goal of success depends upon his efforts for scholastic attainment.

Retrospection

Spirit of the Socialite . . .

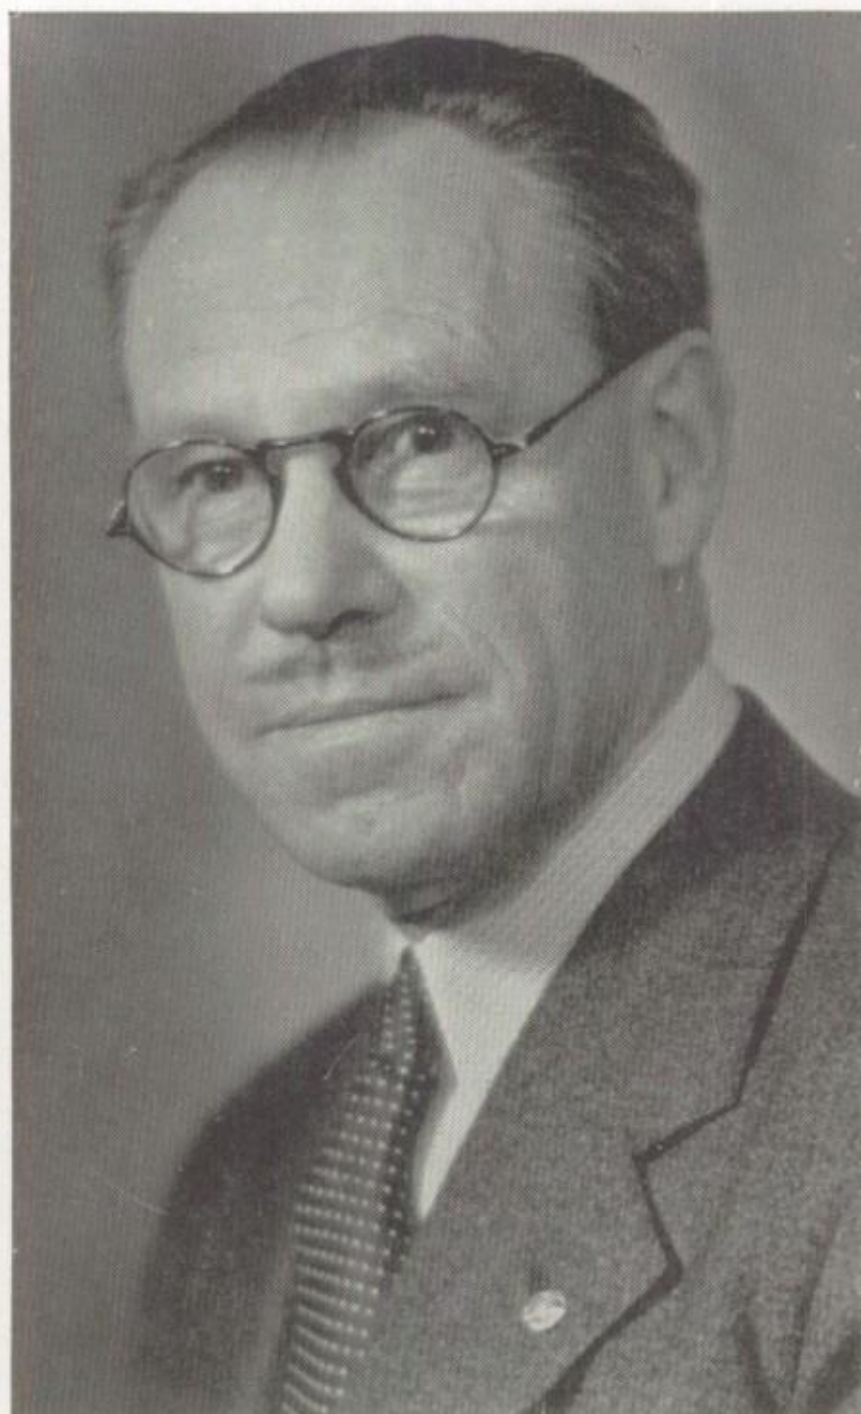

During a student's stay at school, his experience in organizations creates a spirit of good fellowship, which should be continued in all his later social activities.

Recollection

Spirit of the Athlete . . .

During a student's stay at school, his ability to achieve a peak of physical perfection through sports gains him a healthy physique, the disposition of a good sportsman, and the power to coordinate mind and body which is nourished by a spirit of physical concentration.

TO THE CLASS OF 1942

You are leaving school in the most critical and dangerous times any of us has ever known. The situation in the world is appalling. Nineteen centuries after Christ was on earth and twenty-five centuries after the splendid culture and civilization of Greece, we now have all the world interested, primarily, in killing and destroying. This is a situation which we never expected to see again, but we have to act according to conditions that exist even though we do not like them.

Everyone realizes that it is the duty, not only of all young people, but also of all Americans to do all in their power to help win the war quickly. We can do our duty in various ways. The greatest service will be in the armed forces. Others can help in production. All must make sacrifices, help pay for the war, stand unitedly behind the men in the Army, Navy, and Air forces, and economize on all materials that are needed for victory.

Urban G. Willis

THE THREE R'S

And we are not thinking Reading, 'Riting, and 'Rithmetic. We are contemplating those R's that form the theme of this book. Youth does not often indulge in reflection, retrospection, and recollection. Life has been too brief, too absorbing, too full of promise for the future for one in his teens to look back or within.

After a campaign, a general pauses to count up his losses and resources and to plan the next advance. You are now in that position. For four years you have pushed forward toward a definite objective, a seconary education. You have attained that goal. This is a good time for retrospection; to look back and ask questions. Have I seized all the opportunities along the way? Have I grown four years wiser? Is my present plan for my life that for which I am best suited? What further training is available or desirable? Having reflected upon these questions and answered them satisfactorily, heed the command: "About Face—Forward March".

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Adams
Mrs. Wahl
Miss Wood
Mrs. Garner

The purpose of the Commercial Department is to provide our graduates with a thorough training for positions of importance in the field of business.

Adequate and sound training in technical subjects is essential, but it is not a complete qualification for the most satisfactory kind of secretary. "A young woman's culture represents what she is; her technical training, what she can do." The higher she progresses in her profession, the more important become those inner qualities of mind and character that are the distinctive marks of a cultivated person. For this reason our secretarial course make possible a familiarity with the best literature, and gives an opportunity for personality development.

AUTO SHOP

Mr. Farr
Mr. Wiley
Mr. Hoffman

Our automobile department trains the boys taking auto-mechanics to accept their responsibility for helping maintain the 30,000,000 automobiles, busses and trucks in daily use in the U. S. A.

Car units are used to teach the fundamentals. Then the boys work on running engines. After mastering these jobs, they work in our garages on privately owned autos doing actual service work with regular garage tools and equipment.

The more proficient boys are allowed to adjust and operate our airplane engines. In addition, each boy is trained in acetylene welding as part of his auto course.

Auto training pays.

ELECTRIC SHOP

Mr. McDougal
Mr. Plutz
Mr. Rona
Mr. Long

The department of Electricity has closely followed the requirements of trade and industry in organizing its courses. From the great wealth of electrical material available for instructional purposes, careful selections have been made to fit the work to the needs of trade and industry. Junior courses stress the latest in wiring and in electrical machinery applications. The senior course operates mainly as an industrial motor winding shop. This is particularly important this year. Local industry has found it so, and has been asking for these graduating students since March. They have been willing to accept them even on a part-time basis.

MACHINE SHOP

Mr. Brubaker
Mr. Filewicz

Pullman Tech. Machine Shop offers a practical industrial course which consists of a series of projects starting with those suitable for a beginner and advancing to the production of useful tools, requiring considerable skill and experience. The object is to provide the fundamental knowledge of machine shop work which is essential to a skilled mechanic, through the practical use of equipment such as is found in leading industrial plants.

The students learn bench-work, how to operate the lathe, milling machine, drill press, vertical boring mill, and planer; as well as cylindrical grinding, tool grinding, Oxy-acetylene welding, and supervisory work in foremanship. Time is also devoted to the study of such related materials and processes as an intelligent knowledge of the trade requires. Those who become proficient find ready market for their skills in their senior year.

DRAFTING

Mr. Buss
Mr. Royster
Mr. Neff

The wide application of drafting to the numerous fields of industry makes it a most comprehensive subject for study and one that might lead to almost anything else in the industrial line.

There is always a demand for the services of the draftsman. Practically every article or structure that is to be constructed must first be designed, and represented by one or more drawings, and every change in design likewise calls for drawings.

The courses of study in Drafting at Pullman Tech. are unusual. There is more real drafting taught here than is covered in an ordinary college course in engineering. The instruction emphasizes two specialities, Architectural and Mechanical or Machine Drawing.

Drafting possesses all the general qualities of a desirable vocation.

REFLECTION

Spirit of the Student

The student's purpose in attending school is, essentially, the securing of the knowledge that he thinks will benefit him most in his future life. If, during our sojourn at school, we fail to employ our minds to their greatest extent, then our time is all but lost. However, if we tax our minds to their fullest capacity, possess the perseverance and patience necessary for a good education, then, and only then, will we reap the rewards of a fundamental knowledge, important to the final achievement of true success.

"Keep 'Em Flying"! That was our eager cry in September, 1938, as we started on a "round the high school world" flight to establish higher records of accomplishment. When we boarded the good air ship "Knowledge" we were looking forward to clear sailing, but our hopes were soon banished. Stormy weather was in sight and those who could not stay on the beam of Exams were forced to bail out.

"All Aboard". After a brief stop to refuel our plane and stretch our legs, we began to burn the 1939 sky trails behind us. Our inferiority feeling had vanished, and we started to explore the realm of activities. Knowing that we would need a capable pilot for our air ship, we elected Paul Kovacs, while Marion Lindell assisted as co-pilot. Betty Leuffgen kept tab on weather reports and charted our course, while Milton Des Forges kept the financial matters in hand. Under the foresight of Mrs. Knauf and Mr. Buss, our look-out advisers we managed to terminate a successful lap of our flight.

"Open 'Er Up"! The spontaneous yell of all the adventuresome passengers of the "Class of '42" was combined to start the 1940 year off with a bang. With a strong tail wind, our air ship "Knowledge" sped along the air lanes at a terrific pace, creating a cyclone of dances, roller-skating parties, carnivals, and candy sales. The plane, however, was kept under absolute control by the pilot, Cecelia Odziomek, and the co-pilot, George Watt. June La Roche kept tab of our air maneuvers, and Charles Swenson sat on the strong box to keep the money from rolling. Though bad weather conditions and motor trouble may have been annoying and discouraging, circumstances were ideal when we made a perfect three-point landing to declare our success at the Prom.

"Contact"! September, 1941. Our last lap of the flight was in readiness. The pilot, Muriel Unruh, gave the signal, co-pilot Robert Kunst, affirmed it, and we were off again. Genevieve Olsen checked the crew to see that all were present, while Anthony Okleshen kept an account of the financial stores. Half-way through the fourth lap, the air ship changed hands; Gordon Carlson took command, assisted by Margaret Margala. James Ruklic recorded the final inventory of our finances, and June La Roche registered the last entry of our performances. Considering a late start, the Annual Staff came through with flying colors, and knowledge of the achievements of the "Class of '42" was made known.

As each passenger was given his record of achievement, he visioned a ship of "knowledge"—one which had flown him safely through four years at Pullman Tech. His remembrances were of all the deeds, achievements, and experiences he encountered in high school, which would stand him in good stead as he continued his flight to conquer all his future hardships.

WE SALUTE THE FACULTY

In the years that we have been at Pullman Tech. we have had the assistance of the faculty and office staff in helping us to become better men and women. They have tried to teach us to tackle our problems in an independent way—not to expect someone else to make the job easy. They have taught us that the better things in life come only through being ambitious, industrious, and cooperative. We have been shown that success comes only in proportion to our integrity, our dependability and our honesty as well as to the extent of our technical ability.

In recognition of the fact that they have worked untiringly for the best interest of us all, we, the graduating class of 1942, wish to take this opportunity to thank them for their efforts, which we feel will contribute greatly to our success and happiness in the years to come.

Supremacy in every undertaking is our goal. As individuals and as a class this has been our motto for the past three years.

As freshmen, our chief ambition was to excel in school spirit, loyalty, sportsmanship, service, and scholarship; and we did. Then as sophomores and juniors we achieved even more for the reason that we were guided in our activities by the incomparable Mrs. Hoover and Mr. Plutz. We gave roller skating parties, dances, plays, and candy sales with noteworthy success.

The junior class has competent leaders and followers who are more than willing to do their share. They hope to give the seniors a better Prom than any graduating class of the school has ever had.

We juniors are looking forward with eagerness to the days when it is our turn to be the seniors at Pullman Tech. When we do step into the places left vacant by our illustrious predecessors, we will continue to strive for high honors and achievements.

On September 3, 1941, a jolly class of sophomores was seen on the school campus, ready for the second year with its exciting adventures. As time went on, the slow rhythmic pounding of the typewriters was heard coming from the typing room during the sophomore girls' typing period. Talk about shorthand began floating around. Math, English, and gym were other subjects to be mastered.

Machine shop boys were making many things of their own. The boys in drafting were busy making blue prints and other drawings that were in their drawing course. This being their second year, the boys in electric shop were becoming more experienced in the field of electricity. The autos were better to ride in because of the more advanced knowledge the sophomore boys applied to their work.

The sophomore class was well represented in athletics dances, clubs and the honor roll.

The boys found their work novel and interesting, while the girls began to think of being secretaries.

Later in the year, the sophomores were organized into the class of 1944. There were many things they hoped to accomplish through the cooperation of every member of the class. With the invaluable assistance of Miss Madsen and Mr. Sawyer, they expect to fulfill their wishes and realize their dreams with the oncoming years.

A DREAM DREAMED BY THE FRESHMEN

We had a dream of a world
Filled with wonder and laughter,
Where gaiety reigned
To the uttermost rafter;
Where teachers were friendly,
The students were happy,
The lessons were easy,
And decidedly snappy;
The children were smart
No need to work hard,
For they got 95's
On each report card;
Our teams were victorious
In all of their games,
And trophies and cups
They frequently claimed;
Gum was allowed,
Candy abounded,
At 10:35 the tardy bell sounded;
Then we awoke to a world,
A world not the same,
But the students were happy,
And intelligence reigned.

RETROSPECTION

Spirit of the Socialite . . .

After we have bridged the gulf from school life to the business world, then will we harvest the benefits derived from the social activities here at school. They not only have brought us real pleasure, but also have developed in us the ability to get along well with people. Our dances, operettas, and other social functions have stimulated and aided us to acquire poise, good manners, and other social graces that are necessary for success.

Pullman Tech., never having had a scientific organization before, formed a club in May, 1925. It was founded by Mr. Ross B. Wynne, an instructor in science, who was also its adviser. The club consisted of science students only. About a year after the club was organized, Mr. Wynne resigned as a member of the Faculty. At that time, Mr. William C. Brubaker, Dean of the school, took over the position vacated by Mr. Wynne, and he has exercised the office very capably ever since. Those belonging to Weld, soon after the appointment of Mr. Brubaker to the sponsorship, named the club "Weld" in honor of the first principal of the school, Dr. Laenas G. Weld, who was a scientist of great repute.

In spite of the fact that the original members of Weld were science students, later on the student body in general was permitted to join. Since 1925, Weld has prospered so well that the club membership has to be limited.

The purpose of the Weld Scientific Club is to make it possible for its members to obtain a fund of information concerning industrial processes, and general science, which undoubtedly will prove to be of vast importance today. The meetings, which are held twice each month, consist of a business period, scientific experiments, and addresses which are given by either student members or guest speakers. Often interesting movies are shown which provide educational entertainment with regard to industrial development and scientific research. Also in the list of activities are inspection tours to various industrial plants and other points of interest.

The club is supported by the payment of dues, which is a very nominal sum. Because of this support, the Weld Club was able to hold a social gathering together with the Lowden Debating Society. All the members of this progressive club have gained valuable information which will be of great use to them.

THIS AND THAT IN SCIENCE

The heaviest known material is the substance which makes up the faint white stars. It may weigh as much as five hundred tons per cubic inch or three million times as much as cast iron. If such a cube were placed on a two inch thick plate of our best steel it would sink through it of its own weight.

It is said, "Water does not run uphill." But a good sized tree will lift five hundred buckets of water and sap in a ten hour day. Grass doesn't grow under a tree because the tree gets first chance at the moisture in the ground.

A crocodile sheds tears when he eats his victim, but it is not because he is sorry for him. The reptile's tear glands are pressed by the food and the tears flow. There is no insincerity in "crocodile tears", though we use the phrase with that implication.

Mechanics at an Army airfield have replaced the engine on an army plane with a new one in eighty-three minutes. It wouldn't take them that many seconds to "take" one off a Jap plane when given the chance.

The Glee Club, founded in 1922 by Wallace B. Graham, is one of the most enjoyable organizations at school.

On the evenings of April 9 and 10, 1942, the "Pullman Tech. Follies", a show full of wit, laughter, and genuine hilarity, written by Mr. Willis, was presented under the direction of Mrs. Hilda Butler Farr, who has devoted untiring efforts and won the respect of all privileged to know her.

ANNETTE SITTEMA	Secretary
IRENE VAVRUS	Treasurer

Twenty years ago the Pullman Tech. Girls Club came into existence. The purpose of its organization was to promote a spirit of friendliness among the girls and enable them to participate in many delightful hours of recreation.

The main events of the year include the Mothers' Tea, the senior breakfast, the semi-annual evening dances of January and April, and of course, the regular monthly meetings.

These events have been especially successful because the girls who comprised the various committees have worked enthusiastically to provide entertainment and refreshments that added to the enjoyment of the parties.

The time, patience, and efforts of our capable advisers, Miss Wood and Miss Skinner, and the cooperation of the members explains the remarkable development that has occurred in this organization since 1922.

The Pullman Manual is the students' paper, written and produced by the students themselves under the guidance of Mrs. Peterson and Mr. Baer.

We hope, during this past year, the Manual has proved of benefit to the entire student body, not merely from the standpoint of entertainment and enjoyment, but also as an informative and worthwhile paper.

Ever since our organization in 1938, the Pullman Tech. Hi-Y has been one of the most promising and progressive clubs in the school.

The Hi-Y club has a membership of fifteen boys, each seeking to promote social activities and good will among his fellowmates. The purpose of the club is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character.

Up to the last year, the club enjoyed the ever ready assistance and advice of Mr. Guy F. House, the founder. At present, Mr. Poyster is devoting time and energy towards its success.

Bottom Row: Oaks, Knobloch, Nardi, Bennett, Panega, Arrivio.

In a vocational school such as Pullman Tech. it is advisable to have shop safety committees. Each shop committee is composed of a chairman, secretary, and inspector. Our duties are to hold regular meetings, display posters, report unsafe conditions in the shop, and attend each year, the National Safety Convention. With an organization of this kind, we can help to prevent accidents in the shops, and prepare the students for industrial safety problems they will meet when they work in industrial plants.

The Pullman Tech. Band has just completed its twenty-fourth year as one of the most loyal and useful organizations in the school. Under the direction of Mr. James R. H. French, it has served both the school and the community, by performing in parades and other affairs.

This year the band played at school assemblies, Founder's Night, Commencement Exercises, and at the Safety Forum meetings held at Fenger. The band also played in a special parade to promote the sale of war bonds and stamps.

Band letters were awarded to the members who were outstanding in their ability. To the one person who exceeds the other members in musical ability and cooperation is awarded a gold medal in memory of Mr. Hostrawser, the band's founder. This year, Wayne Pitcher was recognized as the most outstanding member and received the medal for his service.

EVELYN SNYDERS	Treasurer	JACQUELINE LAROCHE

This year, as in years previous, the Pullman Tech. Girls' Drum Corps under the direction of Mr. French, has been very successful. The Corps, consisting of approximately twenty-five members, has been gaining recognition throughout the community.

Again this year, the Pullman Twenty Year Service Club invited the Drum Corps to take part in their annual Christmas party and also in their annual picnic, held at Michigan City, Indiana. The Drum Corps also performed at many of the school football games and participated in several community parades.

Clad in their smart blue uniforms, the girls have served as usherettes for the Pullman Safety meetings.

A great deal of credit is due to June La Roche who has had charge of the color guard, and to Hazel Hershower who has served as Drum Major.

MRS. URBAN G. WILLIS	Director

The Mothers' Club was organized in 1935 so that the parents could become better acquainted with the faculty, with the school in general, and with each other.

This co-ordination of effort has brought these groups closer together and has succeeded in the development of an unusual friendship and understanding. The club's increasing prominence is just recognition of its true worth.

During their years at Pullman Tech., the students make many delightful acquaintances and friends. In order to preserve these, the Alumni Association was formed. Its aim is to cement ties of friendship and to foster a lasting affection and esteem for the school.

Annually, the Alumni Association extends an invitation to the graduates to become members. It is hoped that the Class of '42 will join and participate actively in this splendid organization, for by so doing they will be able to keep in touch with their school and their schoolmates.

The Faculty Club was organized in 1916 by Mr. Willis, who was also the first president.

At the monthly meetings of this social club, entertainment is presented in the form of interesting addresses, book reviews, or theater parties. Each year there are variations from the routine monthly meetings. In May, there is an outdoor picnic and in June, the faculty entertain the seniors at an evening party.

Since its founding, the Faculty Club has provided a successful method of social and intellectual diversion for instructors of the school.

WILMA CIPCICH

PULLMAN TECH. LIBRARY

I am the library
I teach the youth
Who comes with inquiring mind,
Eager to know all possibilities
The universe holds in store for him,
Anxious concerning the future;
I give him Romance—Scott, Dumas, Mark Twain;
And Biography—Franklin, Lincoln, Roosevelt;
And history and science and travel;
I lead him into ways of beauty,
And give him art and music and poetry;
I inspire him, I teach him.

The students of Pullman Tech., are indeed fortunate in having a library as complete as ours, for it is one of the greatest aids any school can offer its students. From the fiction section at one end of the library to the history books at the other, there are approximately 6,000 books on various subjects of interest to the students. This collection includes books on science, art, religion, history, mathematics, literature, and fiction, as well as many books pertaining to the various trades taught in the shops and books to aid the girls in their science and commercial courses. The library contains the very best encyclopedias and reference books. There is also a large selection of both classical and contemporary fiction. Books are being added to this collection regularly.

The library subscribes to about forty magazines, including trade journals, current event magazines, and periodicals of general interest to the students. There is also a pamphlet file which provides supplementary material of great value.

Because of its quiet, stimulating atmosphere, which is conducive to reading and study, the library is also used as a study hall.

The value of our library has been greatly increased by the efficiency and helpfulness of our librarian, Mrs. Bernice B. Cook. Under her capable supervision, the library has become a bright and cheerful room, due to the addition of colorful pictures and plants.

Every student recognizes Mrs. Cook's willingness to give aid to anyone in need of assistance.

RECOLLECTION

Spirit of the Athlete . . .

Athletics is one of the more important activities at school. It not only brings about a higher degree of physical aptitude, and—a healthier body, but it also installs in the mind of the student a highly developed sense of fair play. It makes it possible for the student to participate in clean, invigorating games, calling for the complete coordination of mind and body.

FOOTBALL SEASON OF 1941

This season, Tech.'s team varied due to injuries. With a light team, Tech. outplayed its opponents in nearly every game, but that extra punch needed to win wasn't there. Yet, we are all proud of the boys who have gone through the hard grind to represent Pullman Tech. on the gridiron.

We are especially proud of Louis Lesciotto who received the honor of being selected as a first string player on the All Conference Team.

GRIDIRON HISTORY

The most popular sport ever participated in at Pullman Tech., is football. It has been one of the major athletic activities at Pullman Tech. since 1919.

During the past twenty-two years, Pullman Tech. has competed with more than fifty different high schools, in and around the Chicago area. During that period of time, the school has competently participated in one hundred sixty-nine games. During those years, Pullman Tech. has created an enviable record—a record that serves as the goal of many schools. Our teams have won ninety games, lost sixty-two, and tied seventeen, scoring the grand total of one thousand nine hundred sixty-four points compared with the one thousand three hundred fifty-one points piled up by the opposing squads. Pullman Tech. has kept the opposing team scoreless in seventy-two games, and were unable to score in forty-seven games. There was one Pullman team which went through its schedule unscored upon. That was the illustrious starting team of 1919.

The team of 1919 had Captain Richard De Kreek and Emil Bethig as their outstanding players. In the Lindbloom game, Bethig carried the ball one hundred and five yards for a touchdown with the aid of De Kreek's perfect blocking. Later in the season, during a game with Morgan Park, Bethig place kicked from the thirty-five yard line to win by a score of three to nothing.

In 1921 Bethig was unanimously voted captain, and he led the team through another successful season.

In the fall of 1919 there was a football game played between Fenger and Pullman. This first game aroused only casual interest in the community, but as time went on Thanksgiving would not have been Thanksgiving without seeing a Fenger and Pullman Tech. game.

No matter what the record of either team had been during the football season, at the Thanksgiving game there was a fight to the finish—neither team gave an inch without a struggle of both muscle and grit. Many times a weak team held a much stronger team scoreless by determination alone. In 1925, Pullman defeated Fenger by our largest score 33 to 0. In 1928, for the first time, Fenger crossed the Pullman Tech. goal.

In the fall of 1934, Fenger was the runner-up for the Chicago Public School championship. On Thanksgiving day, the unbeaten Pullman Tech. team won over Fenger by a score of 13 to 0.

BASEBALL

Top Row: Watt, Petrauskas, Mellilo, De Vries, Zukowski.
Bottom Row: Kovacs, Farley, Arrivio, Sipka, Napoli, Dyke, Kobus.

This year the boys of Pullman Tech. have a choice of playing hard ball or soft ball.

The hard ball team will play in competition with other schools while the soft ball team will compete in an Inter-Shop League. The team winning the most games, after a double round robin has been played, will receive a trophy for winning the championship. Almost every shop and class is represented in the Inter-Shop League.

This year Pullman Tech. should have quite a successful season in baseball due to the fact that a great majority of the players are back from the 1941 team. Among the more promising players are Kovacs, Petrauskas, Watt, Melillo, Farley, Bushelle, Zukowski, Arrivo, and Napoli. For years Tech. has been represented by very good teams on the diamond but this year's team will try hard to break all records under the coaching of Irving Gorney of the Class of '34.

TRACK

Track will be one of the new sports under the extensive athletic program at Pullman Tech. this spring.

At the time of this writing not much can be said of the team except that there are a great number of boys working hard each night to learn a sport entirely new to them. Several boys show exceptional aptitude in some of the events and will be sure point winners later in the season. After a few weeks of practice the boys will go into the different events for which they are best suited. Coach Cummings, who is coaching track this year, will place the boys in the following events dashes, long-run, hurdle races, jumps and weight events.

SCHOOL DAYS

Early in the morning
When the bell begins to ring,
It's a warning that 'tis school time,
And you haven't done a thing.

Aren't you ready? Goodness!
Don't you know the time?
Of course you've got to be at school
By ten minutes to nine.

Then from nine until three-thirty
It's the same thing every day;
For this is when your working
And you haven't time to play.

And then you wander home so slow,
That when you do get there,
You have to knuckle down again
Those lessons to prepare.

LIFE IS WHAT WE MAKE IT

Allow me to express my sincere wishes for a successful future for the students of the Pullman Free School of Manual Training, and to offer the suggestion that in building for the future, that you guard well those things in life essential to success, especially your health, for a sound body means a sound mind, and a sound mind will lead eventually to the goal of your ambitions.

Practice the Golden Rule, for therein lies the foundation of your success.

Your life lies before you—make the most of it.

SHELDON W. GOVIER

FEBRUARY

- 2—Everyone buckles down to business for almost a day—start of new semester. Preparation for Spring Musical show begins. Glee Club holds first meeting. Any splinters? Another evening skating party at Swank rink. Juniors sponsor it.
- 6—Bargain day at Pullman Tech.—Hi-Y dance with free icecream, and candy.
- 9—After three and a half years, how much do you know about your school? Seniors quizzed at assembly.
- 11—Wasn't Lincoln a great guy? We're free today for his birthday.
- 17—Dean Wm. C. Brubaker is operated on today.
- 18—Theater party for Faculty club.
- 27—Seniors hold Monte Carlo party.

MARCH

- 3—Night shift for Tech. students. We celebrate Mr. Pullman's 111th birthday.
- 4—Again our silver-tongued debaters demonstrate their ability. Lowden meeting today.
- 9—Variety program under supervision of Mr. French. Senior assembly today.
- 10—Isolationists—Juniors hold a party all by themselves.
- 16—Mr. Cummings speaks on spring athletics to all boys of school.
- 18—Boy are my feet sore! (or is it my feet?) Junior skating party tonight.
- 20—Girls Club enjoys another one of their parties.

APRIL

- 3—Easter vacation begins. What new clothes are you sporting?
- 7—Happy Easter vacation ends—Same old grind. Do-re-mi-fa-so-la-si-do. Dress rehearsal tonight for the Follies.
- 9—PRESENTING! The Pullman Tech. Follies.
- 10—Encore of Follies. How did you like it?
- 24—Everyone primps up tonight—Girls' Club evening party.

MAY

- 14—Gym Night Tonight! Ah!
- 15—Second showing of girls' athletic ability.

JUNE

- 5—Today is the biggest social event of the year. You guessed it—Junior-Senior Prom.
 - 10—Faculty reception to seniors. Aren't they nice persons, after all?
 - 19—Farewell old Alma Mater. Sob, sob. Commencement exercises and your none too happy about it after all.
- End of School year.

HUMOR

Notice—If there are any jokes in this Annual that haven't been heard at least twice, please report to the Humor Editor and proper apologies will be made.

The cows are in the meadow,
The sheep are in the grass,
But all the silly little geese
Are in the junior class.

We laugh at the teacher's jokes,
No matter what they be
Not because they're funny jokes,
But because it's policy.

He: "Please."
She: "No."
He: "Aw, please."
She: "I said no."
He: "Just this once."
She: "Absolutely not!"
He: "Aw, gee, all the other kids are barefooted."

Myrt: "I wonder why a girl repeats everything you tell her?"
Marge: "Because a girl has but two views of a secret, either it's not worth keeping, or it's too good to be kept."

Lady leaving Beauty Shop: "I don't think I look thirty, do you dear?"
Friend: "No, darling, not now. You used to."

AS THE SOPH. SEES IT

Twinkle, Twinkle, little star,
How I wonder what you are,
Up above the world so high
Like a diamond in the sky.

BUT AS THE SENIOR SEES IT

Scintillate, scintillate, luminous constellation, Interrogatively I question your constituent elements
In your prodigious altitude, above the terrestrial sphere
Similar to carbonaceous isometric octahedral in the celestial firmament.

Indian to Paleface: I'll bet you $3.00 that you will forget something in ten years.
Paleface: All right, I'll take you up on that.
Indian: Do you like eggs?
Paleface: Yes.

THEY MEET TEN YEARS LATER:

Indian: How?
Paleface: Fried.

First girl: "Do you like conceited men better than the other kind?"
Second girl: "What other kind?"

SIMPLIFIED ENGLISH

O-Y has E-4-got-10 me?
O-Y is E-so cruel?
How can E-B so thoughtless?
E calls me, as a rule.

N now the bell is ringing,
N-I-M sad N blue,
2-day E has 4-got-10 me,
N-I did my homework 2.

Brenda: Going to the dance?
Cobina: What dance?
Brenda: Haven't you heard? The butchers are throwing a meat ball.

DAFFYNITIONS

Indiscreet—Where little children should not play after school.
Indorse—Where we go to escape the rain.
Deduce—What we get for coming in late.
Solo—The feeling you get after flunking a test.
Itches—Something that when a recruit is standing at attention, his nose always.

Visitor: How old are you?
Little Boy: I'm at the awkward age.
Visitor: The awkward age?
Little Boy: Yes, I'm too big to cry, and too small to swear.

Oh, the Annual's a funny thing
The school gets all the fame,
The printer gets the money,
And the staff gets all the blame.

HUMOR

The brizzes, the brizzes,
They blow through the trizzes.
They whizzes and whizzes
Wherever they plizzes.
They give me the snizzes,
All kinds of dizzizzes.
(Disgusting, izzn't it?)

Three men were sitting on a park bench in Nazi Germany. One, who was reading a paper, finished an article, looked up, and said, "Tsk, tsk."

The second man looked over, read the article, and, he, too, said, "Tsk, tsk."

The third man stood up and said, "If you guys are going to talk politics, I'm leaving!"

Boy: While we're sitting here in the moonlight, I'd like to ask you—

Girl: (breathlessly) Yes?

Boy: Couldn't we move over? I'm sitting on a nail.

A student failed in his examinations at the university. He telegraphed his mother, "Flunked Out. Prepare Papa. The mother telegraphed back, "Papa prepared, Prepare yourself."
